

Mr. David Silverman Tells How Cuticura Healed His Eczema

"I contracted a very severe case of eczema and it was so bad it kept me up at night. I formed into large, red pimples, very itchy and sore. My skin was sore and red. The itching was so disagreeable that I could have torn myself to pieces. Could not do my work. Was diagnosed for time being. "Was treated but got no relief. I was advised to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Sent for free sample. The first night I used them was the first night I slept without agony for months so I purchased more, and I used three fifty cent boxes of Ointment with the Soap which healed me. (Signed) David Silverman, Hingham, Conn., July 12, 1919.

WESTERLY

The bottom has dropped out of the project of The Ninigret company to erect big mill buildings in what is known as Riverside park. The extensions will be confined to the land now owned by the company and all this will not be utilized for industrial purposes. Though this condition has been previously reported in this correspondence, official color was given to the report at the meeting of the Westerly town council, Monday, when Town Solicitor Harry B. Agard, who is also consulting for The Ninigret company, announced that the company had changed its plans in regard to building in Riverside park. At the financial town meeting a few weeks since, it was voted to sell Riverside park, which was the public playground and in charge of the school committee, to The Ninigret company for $5,000 and that this sum be set aside for the purchase of another playground. A new field had been selected on the Hannah Crandall property and a satisfactory purchase price agreed upon.

Mr. Agard told the council that the company stood ready to purchase Riverside park at the price specified, but would not agree to utilize the site for manufacturing purposes. Under these conditions there was opposition to the transfer at the council meeting. Councilman Thorpe, remarking that the land would bring considerable more than $5,000 if sold at public auction, and Mr. Agard acquiesced. Councilman Thorpe would not object giving the property as a gift for industrial purposes, but was opposed to sell it as a matter of speculation.

Mr. Agard stated that no transfer could be made except by legislative action by reason of complications in prior transfer from the Playground association to the town. The school committee is custodian. He declared that the legislature would not mean that the property would be transferred, but would give a financial transfer to the town. At any time should the qualified voters so decide. A vote was adopted authorizing the town solicitor to secure the required legislation.

Dr. Samuel C. Webster, superintendent of health, to whom was referred his report of February, which failed to report any cases of influenza, stated in explanation, that in his opinion there were no cases of influenza in the town at the time, that is if the epidemic of 1918 was influenza. The sickness that the council believed existed in February and the sickness called influenza as prevailed a year and a half ago were as different as two things possibly could be. The town ordinance specifies the cases that must be reported to him by physicians, and this so-called influenza is included.

Dr. Webster said that only five of the sixteen physicians of the town reported cases to him as influenza. They reported 13 cases in January, 34 in February and 6 in March. A total of 53, and there were twenty times as many cases that were termed grip. The doctor said he did not report these cases as he did not consider them influenza, and that there was no occasion to produce unnecessary excitement in the community. Thirteen of the 53 cases reported were in Bradford, and there were probably 40 like cases in the town that other physicians did not report as influenza. Dr. Webster in his report for March stated that there had been reported twenty-two cases of measles. The report was accepted and ordered on file.

Charles L. Fowler, of the Westerly Textile company, and The Ninigret company, stated to the council that it had been customary to send an armed man to the bank for pay roll money, and he had been informed these men were liable to arrest for carrying concealed weapons. He had no intention of being the cause of violation of the law, and asked for the appointment of these men as special constables, to serve the town without pay. He asked that Ernest D. Hawkes, William F. Donovan and Charles W. Sauer be appointed special constables. They were appointed subject to the approval of Thomas E. Brown, chief of police.

LeGarde Woodmansee and Charles J. Butler called attention to the congested condition of Main street from Union to Broad, by reason of automobile parking there for an indefinite time. Mr. Woodmansee suggested a parking period of not more than thirty minutes. The matter was referred to the chief of police and police committee, with power.

Elizabeth Gourlay Peck sent a communication to the council complaining of the damage to her land caused by the overflow from the old stand pipe of water works on Quarry Hill. Councilman Harper said there was no reason for such a conference as he knew Mr. Stanton and Mrs. McKenzie would get along all right. Councilman Thorpe did not favor the conference and believed it might be good policy for the town to have an off horse on the water board. Councilman Harper said he did not believe Mr. McKenzie would sue a man for the place, even were he asked. Mr. Stanton was then elected a member of the board.

plains had been made frequently to the water board, she stated, but no relief came. It was plainly written in red ink in the communication, that if the council failed to apply a remedy, legal action would be taken and an attempt made to abate the nuisance. The council voted to refer the matter to the board of water commissioners.

A numerous signed petition asking the council to favor daylight saving was received and ordered on file. It was stated the board of trade was to discuss the subject and that there would probably be legislative action during the week, and therefore it would be just as well for the council not to take any action.

Councilman Campbell stated that the term of Tristram D. Babcock, as a member of the water board had expired, and his motion for the reappointment of Mr. Babcock prevailed. Councilman Moore nominated Lewis Stanton as a member of the board, to fill the unexpired term of Louis W. Arnold, deceased. Mr. Campbell suggested that the matter be talked over with Superintendent McKenzie as he believed the appointee should be agreeable to the superintendent. Councilman Harper said there was no reason for such a conference as he knew Mr. Stanton and Mrs. McKenzie would get along all right. Councilman Thorpe did not favor the conference and believed it might be good policy for the town to have an off horse on the water board. Councilman Harper said he did not believe Mr. McKenzie would sue a man for the place, even were he asked. Mr. Stanton was then elected a member of the board.

The next move was to reduce the pay of the members of the board of water commissioners, three in number. Tristram D. Babcock, Albert N. Crandall and Lewis Stanton. Councilman Campbell moved that the salary of each member be $100 in 1920. The salary as fixed by ordinance is $500 for the president of the board and $250 for each of the other two members. The motion prevailed, and it was voted the ordinance, to be in effect August 15, 1920.

Bills for damage done by dogs, were received and approved by appraisers amounting to $74.45, as follows: C. L. Howard for killing of geese, and appraisal, $16.15; Rev. George D. Stanley, for killing three Belgian hares, $21.50; Albert F. Clark, for killing fowls, $12; Alfred Matarsse, for killing fowl, $25.60. The bills were ordered paid, excepting that of Rev. Stanley. The statute provides for payment of damages done by dogs to sheep, lamb, cattle, horses, hogs and fowl, but the law does not provide for damage done to hares.

William J. Nichols and Albert H. Langworthy were reappointed appraisers for damage done by dogs. Russell L. Blom was reappointed dog warden for the ensuing year. Andrew J. Martin was granted a tavern license for the Martin house.

A petition was received from the White Rock baseball club of the Rhode Island state league, for license to play baseball on the ground at White Rock Sundays, from May 2 to September 12. It was voted to give the petition public hearing April 23 at 7:30 in the evening.

Police Chief Thomas E. Brown reported ten arrests in March; breaking and entering freight cars, 7; theft 2; indecent exposure 1.

Resolutions of condolence on the death of Councilman Charles G. Craig were reported by the committee, Town Solicitor Agard and Councilman Thorpe, and unanimously adopted. It was voted to have the resolutions recorded and a copy sent to Mrs. Craig.

Town Solicitor Agard stated to the council that error was made when the mill building of the George C. Moore company, erected in 1916, was connected with the building not yet completed, in the exemption from taxation for a period of ten years. He stated that the exemption should apply only to the building and the machinery therein, that was begun June 24, 1919, and the exemption should be from that date. Vote to that effect prevailed.

Councilman Moore said he wanted to make it clear that there was no selfish action in this matter and that at no time has the George C. Moore company been exempt from taxation for a period of ten years. The company had been exempted seven and a half years and will be taxed this year. He did not ask for exemption for the building constructed in 1916 and would not accept exemption for the building now in course of construction unless it was the general rule and he quoted instances, notably the Ninigret company. Councilman Moore declared he asked for nothing that was not given to others.

He believed it would be as well for the town to encourage the industries now here, as it was to take a chance with others they know not of. He did not seek special favor and only expected treatment that was accorded other manufacturing industries.

The New Home Treatment for Ugly Hairy Growths

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered deodorant. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real deodorant.
